INDICTMENT DISCLOSES CONTEMPTIBLE PLAN TO CONTROL PRICE OF MILK

As announced exclusively in Glendale in yesterday's issue of The Daily Press, the county grand jury yesterday morning returned an indictment charging the milk combine of Los Angeles with "the crime of conspiring against trade," a violation of the Cartwright anti-trust law.

The indictment charges the defendant milk dealers with violation of practically every provision of the Cartwright law; it cites specific instances in which production was "limited, restricted, discouraged and prevented," "free and open competition prevented," as well as proof of the unreasonable prices exacted from the public.

Monopoly Shown

The indictment was the outcome of a long and thorough investigation by the grand jury and the district attorney's office which began early in May and which is said to have brought to light an astonishing situation of monopoly and exploitation.

An absolute domination of the production and distribution of milk in this section by the Milk Dealers' association of Southern California was revealed. It was shown that this association fixed the prices at private meetings and created a camouflage situation under cover of which they kept up the price of milk.

Camouflaged Conditions

This camouflage situation consisted in arbitrarily declaring all milk produced in excess of the February production "surplus milk"; the production of the month of February being the lightest of the year, and this being the shortest month, also. Notice was served on producers by the distributors that this "surplus" would be purchased by them only on a butterfat basis at from 1½ to 3 cents a quart. It is said that this milk was not used to make butter, but was retailed at 16 cents a quart.

Some of the producers say they were told by the distributors that their milk was not wanted at any price, "because if we buy it," they said, "we'll have to reduce the price to sell it, and if we do that we'll never get it up again."

Thus did the members of the milk combine shut off competition, force small producers out of business, exact fixed and exorbitant profits from the consumer and constitute themselves an absolute monopoly in the business.

Fight to Be State Wide

The searchlight of pitiless publicity has shown them up as they are. The result will be far-reaching; warfare on milk profiteering is destined now to become state-wide. The state market department and the state agricultural department are taking a hand in the matter; their aim is to find a basis upon which prices can be established and maintained for all time, for the entire state.

The fight for right prices for milk, one of the most important foods, is the most important one waged for a long time. The establishment of fair prices means greater consumption of milk, which means fewer undernourished children, less expense to parents (for undernourished children are more prone to disease and more care in every way than well nourished youngsters), and even more healthy grown-ups, for many a mother stints herself of needed nourishment to buy milk for the children; moreover, the health of many a struggling father and mother is impaired through anxiety at meeting the exorbitant price of their children's necessary food.

MR. AND MRS. PUFFER RETURN FROM A TRIP EAST

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Puffer, who have just returned to Glendale from a month's tour of the middle west, are a very contented couple.

Mrs. Puffer says: "No more of the east for me except for short visits."

They went as far east as Detroit, which was their former home, and spent some time there and in Chicago, where Mrs. Puffer's relatives live.

Everywhere they heard complaint of hard times and of factories closed, but saw no evidence of hard times. The streets of Chicago were just as thronged as they ever were, the crowds looked prosperous, the expensive cafes and the theaters did not lack for patronage, and so they conclude that whoever was feeling the pinch of poverty was keeping it out of sight.

In Chicago, certain lines of business were at a standstill on account of the lockout in the building trades, and they were told that the packing houses were working about half their force. They stopped at Denver and Colorado Springs and business seemed to be active there in spite of complaints of shut-downs in mining and manufacturing.

Another thing which struck them quite forcibly is the heavy transcontinental travel both east and west, all the trains running in two sections. This does not seem like poverty.

When asked how he explained the prosperity of California as contrasted with the depression complained of in the middle west, Mr. Puffer pointed out that this state did not experience any war prosperity in comparison with the east. When the war ended and the embargo on building and industry was lifted, there was a speedy return to normalcy with increased activity to make up for the time lost. In other words, he appears to think we had our depression during the war and are now having our revival.

Discussing General Strike

BRIGHTON, Eng., June 22.—A motion allowing the communist party to affiliate with the British labor party was defeated today in the labor conference which is in session here discussing the advisability of a general strike.

ACTION TAKEN BY C. OF C. TO AID EX-SERVICE MAN

Urging that the chamber of commerce cooperate in having William E. Greer, at present employed in the Glendale branch of the Los Angeles post office, retained in the capacity in which he new serves James F. McBryde addressed a letter to the local chamber which was read yesterday at the regular weekly meeting of the board of directors of that body. Upon motion it was decided to appoint a committee of two from the chamber of commerce to investigate and act upon the matter.

According to the letter written by James F. McBryde, William E. Greer, an ex-service man, will be required to take a civil service examination on July 1. Because of constant night service in the past Greer has suffered with eye trouble and is now advised by his physician to make no effort at night study in preparation for the examination. Not being in condition to study Greer feels that he cannot successfully pass the examination.

It is in this connection that James F. McBryde is sponsoring Greer, asking that the chamber of commerce take steps to have him retained in his present capacity and released from the obligation of taking an examination.

MUCH FISHING; NOT MUCH FISH

Mr. and Mrs. Oma Fish have returned from a visit to their son, who is conducting a ranch at Haviland, on the Kern river. Incidentally, they did some angling, but whether their name was a hoodoo or some other unknown cause operated against them, it was an unproductive sport of which they are doing no bragging. Mr. Tarr says, in giving a second-hand report "much fishing but no fish." Mr. Tarr may be prejudiced, as he will have no chance to try his luck for a month to come. He says the Chevrolet agency will be in its new quarters on East Broadway in about two weeks.

RARE OPPORTUNITY AFFORDED LOVERS OF HIGH CLASS MUSIC

The Orpheus Club, which Glendale music lovers will have the opportunity of hearing on Friday evening, is one of the greatest organizations of its kind in the United States.

One half of the present membership of the club are soloists in churches of Los Angeles and surrounding cities. All those who heard the program of the "Orpheus Four," at the Chautauqua a few weeks ago, will appreciate the treat that is in store for those who attend this great concert next Friday evening. The numbers of the four men heard at the Chautauqua were but a foretaste of the pleasure of hearing the entire club of 50 men who have had the advantage of many years' training under the same teacher and director, Joseph P. Dupuy.

Under Mr. Dupuy's leadership and training, the Orpheus Club won the $3000 prize at the San Francisco exposition in 1915, in competition with men's choruses from all over the United States, a fact which proves Mr. Dupuy's great ability as a vocal teacher and director.

Besides its splendid chorus work, the Orpheus Club will present the following soloists: Charles W. Horn, tenor; E. J. Dill, baritone; William Brand, bass-baritone; Norman Kelch, basso profundo.

Raymond McFeeter, pianist of note, is the club's accompanist.

TEMPTING VIANDS AT DINNER GIVEN BY ALPHA OMEGA CLASS

The dinner given by the Alpha Omega class of the Central Christian church in the church dining hall this evening promises to be a record breaker, both as to attendance and to tastiness of the viands the young people will set before their guests.

There be those who are wondering how the young folks can possibly expect to make a profit on the dinner at the small price they ask for it, 35 cents, and a profit is what they are after, since they wish to raise money to furnish their new class room.

But it isn't always the oldest hands at cooking or anything else that know it all; perhaps the Alpha Omegas may show us all new things in the line of domestic economy.

ISAAC STUDIO SOLD TO W. V. B. MULLIKIN

W. V. B. Mullikin, whose home is at 131 North Adams street, and who came to Glendale from Miami, Fla., has bought out the G. G. Isaac Studio at 206 East Broadway.

It is evident that Mr. Mullikin wants to identify himself thoroughly with our city and shares the faith of old residents in its future. He will find the business fraternity very cordial and will be certain to like our professional life here.

King George in Ireland

(By International News Service)

King George, in opening the new Ulster parliament at Belfast today, made a direct appeal to the Irish people to cease their strife and to settle their disputes with good will and forgiveness. It was the first time that an appeal has come from the throne to the Irish people. The king intimated that he might attend the opening of the new Dublin parliament later. This parliament is controlled by Sinn Feiners. On the other hand, the Ulster parliament is dominated by anti-Sinn Feiners.

PRESIDENT JONES IS DETERMINED THAT BOULEVARD BE IMPROVED

Declaring emphatically that the Pacific Electric should be required to operate in Glendale for the service of the citizens of this city rather than at its own conevnience, Mattison B. Jones, president of the Brand Boulevard Improvement association, yesterday stated that demands would immediately be laid before Mr. Titcomb, vice-president of the Pacific Electric, requiring that tracks on Brand boulevard north of California street be lowered to the street level.

"The railway company has at the present time a supply of construction material in Glendale," said Mr. Jones, "and this seems to be the opportune time to ask that the work of lowering the tracks be begun. The improvement association," continued Mr. Jones, "does not expect that the Pacific Electric should pave the road bed at present, but it does believe that the time is ripe for the other work and proposes to take drastic steps to force the matter to a conclusion."

The completion of street crossings by the Pacific Electric at streets that run at right angles with the boulevard, a matter which was laid before the city trustees to act upon and was later referred to the city attorney, Hartley Shaw, will be carried by the latter before the state railway commission for decision.

Mr. Shaw announced today that he is drawing up the grade crossing controversy in the shape of a complaint and will have it before the railway commission at an early date. He stated, however, that he does not anticipate a decision from that body in less than five months.

SONS AND DAUGHTER COME HOME TO VISIT

Mrs. C. G. Woods and son Charles, of Grand View avenue, have just had the pleasure of welcoming a daughter of the house of Woods, Mrs. Winfield Simpson and son, William, whom they are entertaining with auto tours of Southern California, and who were guests of honor at a family dinner party at the home of William Woods of Long Beach, last Sunday, when covers were laid for fourteen.

The family circle will be increased in September by the arrival of Mrs. Woods' youngest son, and bride, Mr. and Mrs. "Max" Woods.

This son spent last summer in Glendale as the guest of his mother. Mrs. Max is an eastern girl and has never visited California.

MICROSCOPE PARTY FOR SCHOOL BOYS

The T. X. group of Y. M. C. A., made up of boys of the Central avenue school, were entertained for their last meeting before the summer vacation at the home of their leader, John W. Cotton, on San Rafael street Monday evening. Mr. Cotton described it as a microscope evening and this unusual form of entertainment quite fascinated the boys, who are trying to persuade Mr. Cotton to continue to act as their leader next year.

Twelve boys were present and before they departed, refreshments were served by Mrs. Cotton and her daughter.

SECRETARY RHOADES KEPT BUSY WITH SWIMMING POOL CAMPAIGN

Indicative of the public's response to the swimming pool campaign, J. A. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, reports that to date over 400 signed cards, pledging citizens of Glendale to vote for swimming pool bonds, have been turned into his office by members of the special committee appointed to interview residents of the city.

According to Mr. Rhoades, members of the Chamber of Commerce have frequently expressed the opinion that a swimming pool in Glendale would prove a valuable publicity feature in inducing tourists to remain in the city. It is felt that if Glendale is to maintain its past quota of new residents it must be placed on a plane of equal competition with Pasadena and other nearby cities which boast public swimming facilities.

Frequently, it is said, potential residents of Glendale who take occasion to motor here as well as to other suburban towns about Los Angeles, reject Glendale because there are no public parks in the city nor facilities for bathing.

WOMAN IS DESERTED BY HUSBAND AND LABORS FOR HER FAMILY

We are wont to thrill at stories of man's valor in war, but forget to consider women's heroism and patient adherence to duty, because it is so commonplace. The heroes of the Argonne, St. Mihiel and Chateau Thierry have had their praises sung o'er and o'er, but the women who waited at home and cared for the children or old folk are given scarcely a thought. A story of woman's devotion in this respect has come to the attention of the Daily Press and it deserves wide heralding. Nearly five years ago a young man living near Culver City left his young wife and four children and went to Canada to enlist for the war. Shortly after his departure a babe was born. The mother bravely took up life's struggle alone, kept a roof over her head, fed and clothed her little ones, though many a night when she lay down to sleep, weary in body and mind, she knew not where the next meal was to come from. Kind neighbors aided her, however, and she struggled on. The husband and father came home at the close of the war, stayed a few months, then disappeared and has never been heard of since. Another babe was born and the little mother went on with the struggle to feed and clothe the six children and herself. Noting the musical talent of the four eldest, whose ages range from 6 to 13 years, a kindly neighbor who taught music gave lessons on piano, flute, cornet and violin to the children and they are now quite proficient musicians, young as they are. Mrs. Pearl Keller of Glendale took an interest in the little family and taught the girl who plays the piano some fancy dances. She and other friends of the family are now hoping that the children as a musical quartet with dancing by the young girl, can earn money to lighten the burden of the hard-worked mother, and help pay out on the little home. All that is now needed is a set of catchy uniforms for the four and Mrs. Keller earnestly hopes that Glendale people who have some spare funds may contribute to this worthy cause. She will be glad to receive any offerings for this purpose, and immediately upon its accomplishment she and the generous musician who trained the children, Professor Ford, will see that they are started on their career. Mrs. Keller is at 109A North Brand.

Public Parking and Camp Site

With a view to opening his business immediately in order to take advantage of the Christian Endeavor convention, Earl Welsh of 920 East Palmer avenue, has established a public parking and camping site at the east end of Palmer avenue. Mr. Welsh is planning to construct a number of temporary cottages and has already made provision for all sanitary arrangements including shower baths.

GOOD CHEER, DELICIOUS LUNCHEON ENJOYED BY TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

Flower-Decked Tables Crowded to Accommodate Many Guests—Mrs. Urquhart, District President, Installs Officers and Makes Address Urging "Americanization" as Great Work of Clubs—Committee Chairmen for Coming Year Announced by Mrs. Hutchinson—Fine Program by Miss Esther Loomis, Vocalist; Miss Ann Gonnerman, Dramatic Reader, and Mrs. H. R. Boyer

Therre was plenty of good cheer in the Tuesday Afternoon club's closing function at the Masonic Temple yesterday, where the final arrival of lingering summer was marked by diaphanous gowns and flower decked hats in charming rainbow assortment.

Though tables set as close as they could be placed reached from one end of the hall to the other, it looked for a time as though there would not be places for all the guests. They were exceedingly pretty tables at which a yellow, orange and green color scheme of decoration had been developed with nasturtiums and coreopsis, and repeated above in strands of asparagus plumosus, which ran the length of the room and were hung with yellow and orange paper butterflies swingily airily in the breeze quite like things of life. At window sills were more bouquets to repeat the gay color note and make a setting that was greeted with a murmur of approval as guests took their seats. To Mrs. Walter Jones and her loyal committee was given the credit they so well deserved for their artistic accomplishment.

Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, chairman of hospitality, and her committee, likewise received appreciative recognition for the delicious chicken dinner prepared and served to the big gathering, and in this connection the pretty daughters of members, who generously assisted in serving were not to be forgotten. It was truly a love feast for it all represented unselfish service by the club for the club. There were no mercenaries and no union labor.

Appeal by Mr. Sanders

By the time dessert had arrived and coffee cups were being filled, the president stilled the buzz of conversation with a call to order and introduced Mr. Sanders, who in a highly ornate and flattering address to "this presence" bespoke the backing of the club for the San Fernando Valley Fair.

After the retirement of Mr. Sanders, Mrs. Hutchinson expressed her own satisfaction in the luncheon and the work of the committees who had made it possible, her reference to Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Sinclair inspiring applause.

Mrs. Urquhart

Mrs. Urquhart, president of the District Federation of Women's Clubs was then introduced and at once impressed the audience as a gracious and able woman who could safely be trusted to guide the destinies of the district organization. She has been president of the Santa Monica Women's club and state chairman of Americanization. It is a work in which she is deeply interested and will probably be the slogan of her administration. She said:

"One hope that is very close to my heart, is that we may gain greater continuity in our work. I think we have just come to the point where we have to move on almost as a solidified womanhood. You have heard much in the past about cooperation. We must have correlation and with this correlation more coordination of all our energies, more conservation of ourselves. We put so much into our club activi-

HAIL AND FAREWELL TO SUPERVISOR DODGE

The Press is in receipt of a letter from Jonathan S. Dodge expressing his appreciation of the support and cooperation he has had from this paper in carrying on his work as representative of this district on the board of county supervisors. As announced some time ago, Mr. Dodge is leaving the county service to accept the position of superintendent of banks, to which he was appointed by Governor Stephens. The Press acknowledges the good judgment shown by the governor in naming Mr. Dodge for this important office which he is so eminently qualified to fill with credit to himself and honor to state. As supervisor he made a brilliant record and the people of this district will not forget the administrative ability and sound judgment with which he rescued the affairs of the county from a state of financial chaos.

CITY MANAGER FEELS JUBILANT

Thanking the people of Glendale for their cooperation in making "Clean-Up Day" a success, Thomas W. Watson, city manager, today announced that he felt certain Glendale would be in presentable shape to greet the delegates of the Christian Endeavor convention.

"Though no report has as yet been turned in to me by the city department in charge of the removal of rubbish," said Mr. Watson, this morning, "I have had ample opportunity to observe the response to a plea for a cleaner city while on my way to the city hall. On every hand I was greeted with the sight of piles of tin cans, shoes, debris of a varied nature, which had been collected for removal."

The next campaign of this nature will be one to improve the appearance of vacant lots, according to Mr. Watson, who plans to make arrangements for this project early in July.

Even though you do one thing well, you probably could do it better.

JOLLY CLASS PARTY OF INTERMEDIATE GRADUATES

Misses Lucile Beach and Frederica Brown, graduates from Intermediate in the class taught by Miss Gladys Sharpe, were hostesses at a party given Saturday night at the Beach home on Riverdale Drive, the last and merriest of a series of class functions. Mrs. Beach and Mrs. Brown were assisting hostesses and Miss Sharpe was a guest of honor.

Games and contests entertained the boys and girls, the last one being a nail driving contest by the girls and a hat trimming competition by the boys. Margaret Schuch proved to be the champion nail driver and received the prize. Clifford Walcott's hat, which was a triumph of millinery, won the first prize and to Alexander MacDougall went the booby trophy. At the close of the games refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Others present besides the hostesses and Miss Sharpe were: Alice Carpenter, Charlotte Blakney, Beryl Goodale, Alexandria Bagley, Margaret Schuch, Dorothy Norwood, Margery Hunt, Arthur Barton, Harry Reed, Dallas Kalbaugh, Robert Hatch, Alexander MacDougall, Clifford Walcott, Arthur and Ralph Timothy.

DR. DAVIS PRESIDES AT CONFERENCE

Dr. W. L. Y. Davis, superintendent of the Pasadena district of thhe Methodist church, will preside at the final local conference at the First Methodist church this evening.

There will be reports of various departments of the church work. All members of the church are urged to attend this meeting, and an invitation is extended to all others who wish to come.

The Epworthian prayer meeting, which now averages an attendance of 50, will be led this evening by Cecil Percy. All young people between the ages of 16 and 35 are invited to this meeting.

"Martha Malicia Goes Shopping"

The courtesy shown a customer in the shops of Glendale is such that shopping is no longer a task to be shunned and delayed as long as possible but a veritable pleasure to be looked forward to. The merchants of Glendale are all cooperating and seem ever on the alert for some new convenience which will help to make our homes more attractive and our home-life more pleasant. This very cooperation and friendship between the merchants of Glendale is the tie which is boosting the city and will eventually put Glendale among the large cities of Southern California. Why, the very air which we breathe seems impregnated with that admirable spirit of cooperation and harmony!

I can't think of anything which you will enjoy more than a visit to Robinson's Men's Wear Shop at 116 South Brand boulevard. The corner stones of Mr. Robinson's business success are—Value and Friendship. There is an atmosphere of friendship which seems to permeate the store and make one feel at home right then and there. Mr. Robinson would rather make a friend than a customer. And as for dissatisfied customers—why there simply aren't any for Mr. Robinson makes it a point to always give value for the money. Most of us still remember February 17, when he opened in the attractive new shop at 116 South Brand boulevard with new fixtures and a complete new stock. Mr. Robinson makes it a point to specially feature the nationally advertised brands of furnishings for men. For instance, every one knows of the famous Wilson Bros., for 57 years furnishers to men. Besides Wilson's excellent products, Mr. Robinson also carries the best representative brands of socks, underwear, belts and shirts, jewelry and men's sleeping garments. You will find it a pleasure to shop at Robinson's, for Mr. Robinson, who is a firm believer in that greater friendship—the friendship of business, is always glad to help you with your selection whenever possible.

A London merchant brought over a quantity of Arabian coffee and an Armenian servant to serve it to his friends, about 1650. Because of its popularity he was forced to open a tent and from this first English Coffee House others rapidly developed, until, becoming the gathering place of the nobility and the famous wits of the age, our modern club has evolved. Today the people of the world consume more coffee than ever before.

TO GRACE YOUR TABLE

As I happened to be passing the Glendale Electric company of 132 N. Brand boulevard, I stopped in to look over their stock of new Electric Percolators. They're beauties—and so amazingly reasonable, too. I managed to tear myself away with only a twelve-cup silver-plated percolator, really the most beautiful I have ever seen! It's so stately and dignified, with such graceful lines and a quiet beauty—well, just the kind of urn that you'd be proud to have grace your table. Don't you think an electric percolator makes such an excellent wedding gift, too?

Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff foam. Add gradually two cups of powdered sugar. Flavor with vanilla. Drop in spoonfuls on a greased tin and place in a very slow oven to dry for about an hour. They should dry entirely before being allowed to brown. The color should be very pale.

GLENDALE'S CHARMS ARE INVINCIBLE

Clare Heaton and family who lived at 314 West Harvard for a few months and who went back to the old home in Kinnundy, Ill., last February are getting ready to return to Glendale to live. They have a 120 acre farm with a good new house on it near Kinnundy, but they wrote that the weather is distressingly hot and the rains have hindered putting in a crop and things look mighty gloomy, especially when they visualize beautiful Glendale with its sunshine and its flowers, its cool breezes and comfortable nights. So they've bought a Ford and early in September will start on the long journey back to the Southland. Mr. Heaton is a good carpenter and his grown son an auto mechanician so both are sure of work when they arrive, this time to stay—their friends believe.

COMPLETION OF P. E. BRIDGE IS HALTED

Two beautiful white concrete abutments and ditto piers standing in lonesome majesty between the two handsome highway bridges on North Brand mark the spot where the P. E. did not build a steel bridge, though everything is there except the steel, which was to have been brought from Texas last spring early. Failing to receive it the P. E. engineer-in-chief thought to put in wood stringers, but on sounding City Manager Watson on the matter received the reply that while the city had nothing to say as to the material used, he, the manager, was positive that the citizens would decidedly object to any but steel beams as such had been promised. If it was necessary to wait until fall to get the steel, as the engineeer intimated, then wait, was the city manager's counsel, as fall is not very far away anyhow.

Meantime the P. E. is piling ties along the right of way to replace the rotten ones and promises a general clean-up before long.

SERPENT MASCOTS NOW LONDON FAD

(By International News Service)

LONDON, June 22—Reptilian mascots are the latest fad of fashion.

The familiar lap dog will soon have to look to his laurels, for snakes, and chameleons and other lizards are being carried by women when they walk or drive.

Pythons, boas and alligators, which are stocked by many of the larger London stores, are, too, ousting the domestic cat from the hearthrug, and there is no doubt that the keeping of harmless reptiles is becoming a fashionable hobby.

WILL BE RAISED IN UNITED STATES

(By International News Service)

SENECA, Kan., June 22—Mary De Mumm, six years old, has gone to Newport News, Va., to make her home with her aunt, Mrs. Josephine Treadwell and there await the disposition by the French Government of property which may some day make her worth millions.

The little girl is a daughter of Frances Scoville De Mumm, formerly of this place, who married Count De Mumm while in Germany persuing a musical education.

When the World War came Count De Mumm, although posessing property in France worth millions, cast his lot with the Central Powers and became a lieutenant in the German army.

This caused an estrangement, for his wife's sympathies were with the Allies, and she brought suit for divorce.

The French Government, learning of De Mumm's actions, seized his property in France as war indemnity.

Following her divorce Madame De Mumm's citizenship in the United States was restored to her through special act of Congress in order that her property rights in France might be protected. She died in Paris a year ago, and her body was brought to Seneca for burial, and her daughter has been living here since that time.

Little Mary will now be raised by her aunt, and she has inherited the rights of her mother in the French estates of her father.

GERMANY HARD HIT BY DIVORCE WAVE

By Frank E. Mason,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, June 22. — The divorce wave following the war has mit Germany with full force. English divorce courts worked overtime the first year after the armistice straightening out the marital tangles resulting from war. Germany reacted more slowly, but the Teutonic divorce mills are now grinding out separation papers with full German efficiency.

In the year 1920 in Berlin there was one divorce granted for every 8th marriage consummated, declared the Berliner Tageblatt, following an investigation into the cause of the domestic disagreements. "Children still play the major role in holding together families, for one-half of the divorced couples during the past year have been childless.

Continental marriage conventions are notoriously different from those in the United States, and cases where men and their wives separate and go their ways without resorting to the divorce courts are so common that the social Grundies scarcely ever raise an eyebrow. The continental custom whereby husbands and wives agree to disagree makes more marked than ever the growing recourse to the courts.

In the majority of cases the wife was accused as the guilty party, continues the Tageblatt. But the new freedom brought by the revolution with the reduced working hours, has brought disaster to many formerly happy families. The husband formerly worked eleven or twelve hours a day, and when he came home in the evening he was a good enough father.

Since the eight hour day has come into fashion, and in many lines the man has even shorter working hours, the husband spends much of his time in bars, racetracks or in jovial society—or if they come home they are in the house so much that it leads to friction and finally the divorce court.

As a result of more open-air sports British women are developing larger waists and flattr chests.

"If you had an eye behind you you might see more detraction at you heels than fortunes before you.

KIDNAPED BY A BAND OF NATIVES AND HELD FOR LARGE RANSOM

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Kidnapped by a band of natives to be held for ransom, carried into the heart of a sandalwood forest in the mountainous region of Suva, one of the Fiji Islands, in the South Seas, held for over 12 hours and rescued by a posse headed by her husband, was the thrilling experience related here today by Mrs. Jules Whatley of Chicago, on her arrival here on the steamer Tahiti.

"One beautiful evening I was walking in the garden of our hotel at Suva when eight natives accosted me," Mrs. Whatley said. "One placed a handkerchief in my mouth while the others tied my hands and feet. Then they carried me out into the back country.

"Several attendants of the hotel had viewed the abduction and notified my husband. Mr. Whatley immediately organized a posse of natives and gave chase. For over six hours they followed the trail of my captors until finally they came upon a hut where I was being held hostage.

"The bandits planned to hold me prisoner until my husband paid a ransom for my release. I overheard them discuss their designs. I was threatened with death should I make an outcry and a guard was placed over me until dawn, while the others slept.

"They seemed to be particularly fascinated by my hair and the way they acted it was apparent that blondes were infrequent visitors to the island.

"Fortunately my husband foiled their plans. With his posse he broke in the doors and after a small skirmish rescued me."

(By International News Service)

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 22—More than 5,000 delegates and visitors from various Northern Baptist churches throughout the country were on hand in this city this morning for the opening session of the Northern Baptist Convention, which will be in session here June 22-28. Among the foreign representatives who stood with uncovered heads when the opening prayer was said, at 9:30 this morning, were those from Burma, Assam, India, East South and West China, Africa and Japan, the Philippines and Central America.

H. H. Barton, mayor of Des Moines greeted the visitors and delegates, and Governor Nate E. Kendall welcomed them to the state. The Rev. H. R. Best, chairman of the Des Moines committee of arrangements, made a brief address of welcome, to which the Rev. Ernest L. Tustin, the president of the Northern Baptist convention, made the response. The chief address of the morning was made by the Rev. O. N. Arbuckle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Newton, Center, Mass., on the subject of "Fellowship in Christ." Reports were made by the executive committee and the finance committee before the noonday adjournment.

The afternoon and evening sessions will be given over to an impressive golden jubilee anniversary of the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, in celebration of fifty years of successful work in foreign lands.

The chief address of the afternoon is to be made by Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, of Glencoe, Ill., home administration vice-president of the society, on "The Work of our Society at the Home Base."

Miss Race Kan, of China; Khanto Bela Rai and Y. Namdamah, of India; Nakaji San, of Osaka, Japan, and Dr. Ma Saw Sa, of Berma, who had come from their own countries to attend the jubilee celebration, spoke of appreciation of the work of the society in their respective countries.

The latter part of to-day's session will be given over to the organization of various state delegations. To-morrow's session will be given over chiefly to the work of the home missions societies.

'CHIEF JOHN' MAKES PLEA FOR POOR INDIANS

Brings Tears to Eyes of Delegates of Native Daughters of the Golden West

(By International News Service)

REDDING, Calif., June 22.—John Lego, Shasta Indian, self-styled chieftain of the Pitt river tribe, evidently believes charity begins very close to home.

"Chief John" visited San Francisco last week and his plea in behalf of the poverty-stricken Indians brought tears to the eyes of delegates to the grand parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West and opened their purse strings to the extent of $115.

John was under arrest here today following the discovery of members of the local parlor that he had used $80 of the money to buy three suits of clothes—one for himself, one for his son and one for his brother-in-law.

On demand of the president of the Redding Parlor, he turned over the remaining $35 to her.

It is alleged that Lego has been capitalizing the sufferings of the Indians for months. His first appearance was before the legislature and he later appeared before the Redmen's Grand Lodge. Members of the tribe generally repudiate Lego, their spokesman said today.

SOLD MOONSHINE TO KEEP SONS IN SCHOOL

(By International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 22.—Mrs. Lena Mayson wanted her two children to go through school, so she had to find a way to make enough money, she testified in court. Making moonshine whisky proved the most profitable undertaking she could engage in—but the police discovered her still and shot holes in the profits.

"I couldn't make enough money with my rooming house, judge," she said, "and I simply had to get my children through school, I've been buying them clothes and everything."

Judge Deich, however, had information to contradict the woman's plea and denounced her for saying she was providing for the children when she was only buying them extras. The judge sentenced Mrs. Mayson to five days in jail and to pay $200 fine on the eve of the graduation from grammar school of the two youngsters.

CHILDREN'S CLUB IS ORGANIZED

A club of little children that is worthy of more than passing mention was organized yesterday by Mrs. Gilchrist, at her home, 230 West Colorado street, with 15 charter members.

The name of the club is the "Good Words club," and according to the statement of its little corresponding secretary, Kathryn Stanley, "the object of the club is to learn to do things you do not like to do"; and the pledge, she continues, is "to guard against conversation of gossip, fear, crime, nagging and kindred topics and turn these words to words of trust, wisdom, goodness, health, prosperity, praise, joy and goodwill; and to help others as well as ourselves, and to speak only good, true words."

The slogan of the club is "Hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil," and the club's emblem is the three wise monkeys.

Meetings of the club will be held every Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and officers elected yesterday are: President, Helen Paige; vice president, Dorothy Paige; recording secretary, Evelyn Townsend; corresponding secretary, Kathryn Stanley; treasurer, Dicky Merrick.

Anyone wishing to become a member is welcome, and anyone wishing further information may consult Mrs. Gilchrist or attend the meeting next Monday afternoon.

"If you want to help the home, the schools, the city," says Kathryn, "Join us; get a pin, wear it and live it."

This is wisdom out of the mouths of babes, and if every resident in Glendale paid heed to it, the peace and happiness of many would be much augmented.

New Members

Four new candidates for the chamber of commerce were voted into membership at the meeting of the directors of the chamber yesterday. These new members include: E. E. Brown, of the Park Avenue pharmacy; H. W. McGuire, of the Schaffer-Miles Cleaning and Dyeing company; A. Zeitlin, of the Men's Furnishings store at 140 North Brand boulevard, and J. T. Murphy, of the Auto-Sales Service garage at 107 East Colorado.

Up to 1920 the approximate value of property owned by railroad companies in the United States was $19,000,000,000.

ATMOMETER WARNS OF FOREST BLAZES

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—A new plan for sending into the western mountain forest reserves large squads of fire fighters to prevent brush fires was revealed her by Paul Redington, district United States forester, following his first extensive survey of the Los Angeles national reserve.

Declaring that by use of the delicate weather bureau instrument known as an atmometer, the forestry service has brought the fighting of mountain fires to such a fine point that serious fires can be predicted. Forester Redington detailed the new fire-fighting plans.

The atmometer, he said, records the evaporatioin of moisture from the air and the ground. Almost invariably, it was stated, a serious forest fire occurs when the instruments records rapid evaporation of moisture.

So, with the instrument as a guide, big squads of fire fighters will be rushed to danger zones in the forest reserve when the atmometer indicator points to the danger mark.

FRENCH COST OF LIVING HITS TEACHERS

(By International News Service)

PARIS, June 22.—In these days when in France the high cost of living does not appear to have reached its maximum, numerous cases of hardship could be recorded. Magistrates, lawyers, teachers and even workmen have been hard hit by the cost of food and clothes. One of the most pitiful cases, however is possibly that of a professor at the University of Paris whose net earnings average 32 francs ($6.40 at the normal rate of exchange) a day. On this he has to feed and clothe nine persons—a wife and eight children.

Unable to find a flat he recently had to live at a hotel with his large family. This cost him 2,000 francs and all he received from his work was 400 francs. Today his wife is sick and he lives on a country farm which kind friends put at his disposal. Furthermore, he has had to appeal to the press for help. A letter containing the above information has been circulated in Paris newspapers and it is usually accompanied by a few cryptic words of comment. "What a shame for France, say most of the newspapers.

Mrs. Kate Clotworthy and her sister, Miss Clara Ringert, 552 West Elk, are leaving about July 1 for a three months' trip to Yellowstone park and other points of interest in Wyoming and Colorado. Their longest stay will be at Laramie, Wyo., where they have numerous relatives and friends. On the return trip stops will be made at Buhl, Idaho and San Francisco.

Harry C. Allan

One of the most eminent of the Christian Endeavor members who will be here for the convention next Saturday, is Harry C. Allan, of San Francisco, ex-state president.

Mr. Allan is one of the two field secretaries of the State Christian Endeavor Union. He gave up a lucrative practice in San Francisco about six months ago in order to give his entire time to his work. He has held other positions of prominence and responsibility in Christian Endeavor work, among them general secretary of the state union and evangelistic superintendent of the state union.

For City Council

THE ONLY INDEPENDENT CANDIDATES

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Deal of the Telephone Company has called upon us to say that he is not a member of the Good Government League. We take pleasure in announcing that our specific reference was not to Mr. Deal, but to Mr. Dru Nicoles, who is the "wire chief" of the Telephone Trust. We do not know whether Mr. Dru Nicoles is the political wire chief or the structural wire chief of this concern.

We also omitted to announce that the "outside superintendent" of the gas company is acting as "financial secretary" of the so-called Good Government League.

Fellow citizens, do you think that a City Council chosen by these public service corporation men will protect you against EXORBITANT GAS RATES? Will they protect you against EXORBITANT TELEPHONE RATES? Will they protect you against EXORBITANT RAILROAD RATES? Stephenson and Lapham will give them a good working majority.

FELLOW CITIZENS—DO YOU WANT GLENDALE TO BE AS DEAD AS POMONA? KEEP THE CITY CLEAN, BUT NOT FANATICAL. VOTE AGAINST THE SO-CALLED MUNICIPAL LEAGUE TICKET.

THE GLENDALE BETTER COUNCIL CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS THE FOLLOWING CANDIDATES:

WALTER E. ANDERSON, 410 West Los Feliz; age 50 years; resided in Glendale 15 years; garage and auto service business. A substantial, conservative, successful business man and a large taxpayer. He will be interested in economy and efficiency. He is a practical mechanical engineer and his knowledge as such will be of great service to the city. He will bring to the Board a long and successful business experience — a quality now needed in our city government.

S. A. DAVIS, 118 West Colorado; age 46 years; resided in Glendale 9 years; real estate and investments; formerly in feed and fuel business. He has had an active, honorable and successful business career in our midst and he is a man of sane, independent judgment. He is prepared to give a great deal of his time and attention to the city's affairs.

C. E. KIMLIN, 219 North Isabel; age 40 years; resided in Glendale 8 years. He is business manager of our most famous institution, the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, known the country over. He is a man of great popularity because of his great ability and never-failing courtesy. He has had 20 years of active and successful business experience. He has been actively interested in civic betterment and humanitarian movements.

WILLIAM C. MABRY, 115 East Acacia avenue; age 49 years; resided in Glendale approximately 9 years. After his graduation from medical college he served his country in four campaigns: Spanish-American War; Chinese Boxer Expedition; Philippine Insurrection, and the World War. Throughout many years of army service and in civil life he has continuously occupied administrative and executive positions of great responsibility. During his residence in this city he was city health officer of Tropico during three administrations and was, for three or four years, president of the Tropico Chamber of Commerce. He also served as superintendent of the Playgrounds Association and installed the Tropico playgrounds. He has been closely identified with every public improvement, including the paving and lighting of Brand boulevard and the acquisition of the water system. Dr. Mabry is a highly educated man and has had unusual training and experience in the field of sanitation, as this was one of his special duties during the many years he served in the army. His knowledge and experience in the field of sanitation alone will not only protect the health of the City of Glendale in the event of the improvement of our water supply and the installation of a sewage disposal plant, but will save the taxpayers thousands if not hundreds of thousands of dollars. Dr. Mabry is a specialist and is not engaged in general practice. As a physician he thoroughly believes in medical freedom under the law. That is, he believes in the right of any individual to choose any method of healing he may desire. During the last nine months he has been in the service as Acting Assistant Surgeon, U. S. Public Health Service, in care of disabled veterans of the World War. All of the disabled veterans under his charge at Thornycroft warmly commend him.

SPENCER ROBINSON, 1234 East Windsor; age 52 years; resided in Glendale 14 years; real estate business. A WORD THAT KILLED THIRTY MEN

Because the word "assault" long has been and is generally misused in the United States to mean rape, Tulsa, Oklahoma, endured a riot in which a million dollars in property was destroyed and 30 persons were killed.

"Assault" does not mean rape, or anything like rape, though an assault may be part of the crime. It means a menace, as of a blow; if one man closes his fist, raises his arm and makes as if to strike another, he has committed an assault. If he strikes, and hits the other man, the blow constitutes the battery; assault and battery have been committed.

There being a certain number of persons in every community to whom the word rape sounded harsh, it became common to use "assault" in its place, just as in certain circles a few years ago women had limbs but no legs, and folks retired when they went to bed.

A negro man in Tulsa stepped on a white girl's foot and she upbraided him for his clumsiness. The negro answered back. A row resulted. The negro was arrested and a newspaper said he was accused of assaulting a white girl. A few lawless fools took the word to mean rape, and started the trouble which, through weakness, stupidity or cowardice on the part of the authorities, culminated in arson, murder and the necessity for the imposition of martial law.

There are many words besides assault which have been abused in the manner in which it has been. In some cases they have been deprived, in common acceptance, of their original meanings; in other cases new meanings have been attached to them until they convey no distinct signification to the mind. This state of affairs results from sloppy thinking, hasty speaking and writing, carelessness about facts and exact statement. It is the duty of speakers in politics, in the pulpit and particularly in the schools, and writers of every degree of literary pretension to put their own language on a higher plane of accuracy, and thus to raise the common level of our tongue.

The tragedy of Tulsa has proved again that words are dangerous things.—New York Herald.

HE WHITENED THE ELEPHANT

Of the many frauds perpetrated by P. T. Barnum upon the unsuspecting public, proving his oft-repeated statement that "the American people like to be humbugged," none was more popular —or more successful, for that matter—than his royal white elephant of Siam.

Barnum long desired a Siamese white elephant for his menagerie. He commissioned F. T. Gaylord, his confidential agent, to obtain one, but the difficulties which the emissary met were insurmountable. Spirits of royalty are transferred to white elephants, according to the Siamese superstition. The animals are maintained in the royal palace, with priests and attendants, for religious ceremonials. Gaylord offered the government $250,000 for the loan of one, proposing to maintain its complete retinue as well. The proposition was spurned. He gave up the attempt.

Upon his return to America, Gaylord was surprised to find a Siamese white elephant advertised as the feature of the Barnum show. And there it was, bedecked in Oriental trappings, surrounded by dusky priest and attendants, and far more white than any royal Siamese elephant ever dared to be.

Gaylord investigated. Barnum had taken one of his herd and whitewashed it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

When the poet wrote "A little learning is a dangerous thing," he was no doubt thinking of those people who read aloud the title at the movie.

"Oh, no, George," she said meaningly, "you'll be sending me some letters."

Describing the Tank

Old Farmer (to soldier son just returned from the front—"Well, Dick, what be these tanks like that there's so much talk about?"

Son—"Why, they're just wobbling things you should do today, occasion-call-ut, and they blaze away like billyo!"

Old Farmer—"Ay, I heard they was wonderful things, but I never could get any details afore."

Tactful

A South End lady relates this: "I never saw anyone get out of a difficult situation more deftly than an expressman's helper the other day. I wanted to see his employer and from the sidewalk he called down: 'Boss, come up! There's a lady wants to see you!'

"From the depths below a voice called: 'Is she young, John, or old?'

"This, of course, was not intended for my ears, but it reached them, nevertheless, and the young fellow knew it. In the words of the poem, 'I looked at John and John looked at me.'

"'You'll be satisfied, boss, when you come up,' he said tactfully."

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

FINANCE FOR WOMEN

The urgent necessity for caution when considering investments should ever be remembered by women. The average woman with money to invest is too easily led into unsafe speculation—much more so than the average man. This has been proved time and time again when various "get-rich-quick" schemes have come to their logical end. Failure of fake stock propositions usually means that hundreds and in some cases thousands of women have lost their all.

Women with funds to invest can always be absolutely assured of complete safety by consulting with a reputable investment house or banker. If any person who is "a friend of a friend of yours" wants to "let you in on the groundfloor,' ' you can ordinarily expect to eventually "land in the basement." Get all the details of the "opportunity" and then seek advice from competent sources. You may rest assured that the advice you receive from the banker or investment house will be for your best welfare.

Seek Banker's Advice

If you are not a close student of finance—and very few women are—you should follow the same course that you would were you ill or in need of legal advice. In those cases you would consult a doctor or a lawyer. Surely it is just as important for women to seek advice from a banker or investment house when money is to be invested.

The dealer in investments, whether a bank or the type of institution that specializes in securities of various kinds, spends all his time studying various forms of investments just as the doctor studies the varied types of diseases. It is logical, therefore, to assume that he is an investment specialist and usually is fully capable of giving you the best advice to suit your individual investment case. Advice from an investment banker of good standing—and it is easy to find out whether it is good or bad—will mean the complete safety of your invested funds.

It is well for all investors, men or women, to bear in mind that were it not for the investment house there would seldom be an opportunity for the person with a few hundred or a thousand dollars to invest with assured safety of principal, is compared with the opportunities presented to those with great wealth.

Small Interest Worthless

The investment house functions for the small investor as well as the large. In fact it is the former class that receives the greatest benefit from these institutions. It is a well-known fact that thousands of people would be obliged to depend entirely upon savings banks for whatever return they might expect from their money had not the investment banker made it possible, through real estate bonds and other similar forms of securities of smaller denominations, for them to increase their income with complete safety.

Don't risk the dollars of your principal for a few extra cents interest. Abnormal interest return is never worth the worry over loss of principal. Keeping your principal intact is far greater satisfaction than any return beyond a reasonable amount you may be promised for it.

Safeguarding the funds of its clients as the primary and most important responsibility of the reputable investment house. Women particularly should avail themselves of the facilities for safe and sound investment offered by organizations which in some cases have spent generations studying the needs of both small and large investors. Always consult an investment banker before investing your funds. You will then be sure that your money is safe.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

Clara Kimball Young, the celebrated screen star of "Hush," believes that energy and vital interest in everything she undertakes is one of the secrets of her success in her chosen field of labor. Asked by an interviewer if she was not afraid of working too hard, or of bringing on a nervous collapse, she replied: "Nonsense, work never hurts anyone. People who keep busy never have any nerves to break down. Do you remember what Mark Twain said about dying? He said that more people die lying down than in any other position, therefore, I never give up and never lie down."

Miss Young, who has the reputation of being one of the best dressed women on the American stage, purchased a black sable scarf during her recent shopping trip in New York, and before returning to Los Angeles insured the same against loss or theft. The insurance policy for this neckpiece read $10,000. The scarf consists of ten skins of the famous Russian crown sables, which before the world war were never allowed outside of Russia, for the reason that the Russian black sables were so scarce and so high priced that only the nobility could afford to own them. There are but two other known owners of Russian crown sables in this country.

She is declared to be one of the busiest women in the Los Angeles film colony. She chooses her own director, her technical experts, supervises the adaptation of her stories and passes on every costume which appears in the picture, decides on all color schemes with her artist, and, in fact, is general factotum of every detail of the studio activities.

Pathe's next Rudyard Kipling story for the screen will be "The Gate of a Hundred Sorrows." The first Kipling picture, "Without Benefit of Clergy," will soon be released, it having received the ok of the noted Britisher.

A picture play of absorbing interest is "Hearts of Youth," produced by William Fox and based on the well-known novel "Ishmael," by Mrs. D. E. N. Southworth. Mr. Fox presents Harold Goodwin as the star. He will have as his leading woman Lillian Hall, noted alike for her beauty and her talent.

Miss Hall will be recalled by patrons of Fox pictures for her work in "My Little Sister," a year or more ago. She also appeared in W. A. Brady's "Little Women," with Norma Talmadge in "The Safety Curtain," for the Mutual Company in "Her Second Husband" and "Wanted for Murder," for Triangle in "Taxi," for World in "Coax Me," and for Rex Beach in "Going Some." She began her stage work in stock in Philadelphia.

One of the most exciting scenes in Charles Ray's picture now in the making, "Two Minutes to Go," is a football game. The star is an old hand at the game and in order to make the scene realistic he organized an eleven composed entirely of young college men with actual pigskin experience. A real football coach passed on the applicants. Ray says that any football fan will get real delight out of the picture. "The Yale and Harvard teams never trained any harder than the actors in the picture," says Charles.

Betty Compson has completed the filming of "At the End of the World." Her next Paramount picture will be "The Woman in the Case," an adaptation of Clyde Fitch's stage play of the same title. Penrhyn Stanlaws will again direct her.

Ethel Clayton, Paramount star, is busy filming "Her Own Money." For her next picture she has a Western subject in mind. It is possible that "The Girl of the Golden West," celebrated melodrama will be her choice.

Agreeable to Uncle Mose

Uncle Mose had put green paint on the garden seat and the boss had sat on it, ruining the new cream-colored trousers that Uncle Mose coveted.

"Ah done tried everything, boss—soap, ga'line, hot iron——"

"Did you try ammonia?"

"No, boss; no," he answered, brightening. "Ah ain't tried 'em-on-me, but Ah knows dey'll fit."

Must be Some Car

"How do you like your new car?" asked the Lizzie driver.

"Great!" replied the Big Six driver. Not a bit of noise;; you can't hear it. Perfect ignition; you can't smell a thing. And speed—why, it whizzes! You can't see it."

'Must be some car," ventured the Lizzie driver. "Can't feel it, can't smell it, cant hear it, can't see it. How do you know it is there?"

It is the movement in the air and not any chemical property which enables a wind to impart a tracing effect.

Would not Fracture the Rules

Buddy was shopping with his aunt and he had his dog with him as usual. They stopped at one of the exclusive hotels to get some afternoon lunch.

The dignified door tender stopped their entering with this remark: "You can't carry that dog inside—they won't allow it."

"Oh that's all right," said Bobby. "I don't have to carry him. He can go in himself."

The Proper Place for the Pad

Willie was being measured for his first made-to-order suit of clothes.

"Do you want the shoulders padded, my little man?" inquired the tailor.

"Naw," said Willie, significantly, "pad the pants."

Preferred to Step Off.

As the train neared the city the colored porter approached the jovial-faced gentleman, saying with a smile, "Shall Ah brush you off, sah?"

"No," he replied; "I prefer to get off in the usual manner."

Platinum is nearly four times dearer than gold.

Clara Beranger, Famous Players-Lasky scenario writer, is preparing her original story, "Exit the Vamp!" for the screen use of Ethel Clayton, Paramount star.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT HAS 300,000 EMPLOYES

By Harry L. Rogers,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 22—Since November 2 Republicans and Democrats alike have admitted pretty freely that Will H. Hays displays rare qualities of leadership in marshalling the hosts of the G. O. P. to the polls, and a great majority of his own party at least seem to agree that he merits the title of Postmaster General with which President Harding saw fit to reward him. Even the most ardent admirers of the little cabinet officer, however, were scarcely prepared to see him become a "general" in the sense of one who commands a large body of armed and disciplined men.

Nevertheless, to a man up a tree or a robber in a mail car, it looks as though Mr. Hays had done that very thing, for at the present moment he is in command of a greater number of armed men than George Washington had under him during the greater part of the Revolutionary War. Assembled in one place, "General Hays' forces would make Pancho Villa's most extensive cohorts look like a kitchen-police detail, and would surpass both in numbers and equipment the standing armies of most of the Latin-American republics.

The Postoffice Department has approximately 300,000 employes. An order issued by Postmaster General Hays recently directed that every essential employe of the postal service be armed with a pistol or shotgun and instructed in its use. Within a week thousands of repeating "riot guns" more than 20,000 automatic pistols and a million rounds of ammunition were issued to mail collectors, messengers, chauffeurs, watchmen and railway mail clerks throughout the country, and these men were given instructions to "shoot to kill."

"We simply have to go back to the old Wells Fargo days and shoot to kill, and we are going to do it," said "General" Hays in commenting upon the order.. "I have been astounded at the facts which I have discovered relative to mail robberies, with a known loss of $6,304,000 and with a known recovery of $3,030,000.

Record Crime Year

Many of the postal employes are ex-service men who have tested their skill in the use of firearms on the battlefields of France, and they are eager to have a chance to meet the mail robbers half way. A number of these men are being used to instruct other employes of less experience in the handling of weapons, and it is expected that a regular course of instruction such as is provided by many cities for their policemen will be worked out.

The Postmaster-General has the utmost confidence in the Inspectors' Corps of the Postoffice Department, the regular organization for the apprehension of those guilty of crimes against the United States mails. He believes it to be one of the most efficient bodies of its kind in the world. He is convinced, however, that the present situation is an unusual one which must be met with unusual methods.

For eighteen months it has been apparent that a great crime wave is sweeping over the whole world and that the United States has been particularly subject to the epidemic. Experts appearing before Congressional committees have testified that the year just passed was the greatest crime year since 1897.

Bandits Mostly Young

This crime wave, which has made itself felt all over the United States and has hit banks, transportation companies, business establishments of all kinds has been particularly strong in the West and Middle West. The attacks have been made by armed criminals upon both mail trains and postoffices, often by young and inexperienced men who were all the more dangerous because of their recklessness.

These criminals have frequently operated in broad daylight, entering postoffices, holding up trains, and even robbing messengers between postoffices and railway stations. During the past two years the lives of many postal employes have been put in jeopardy by these reckless bandits, and in the past four months three postal employes have been killed in the performance of their duties.

Desperate Youths Dangerous.

In two of these cases the perpetrators of the crimes have been brought to justice, and in the third case the untiring efforts of the postoffice inspectors are expected soon to be crowned with success.

The first of the murders occured in the Jackson street branch of the postoffice at Dallas, Texas. Five heavily armed bandits entered the building late in the afternoon and forced their way into the registry room, shooting promiscuously at the male and female employes as they went. One old and faithful clerk was shot and almost instantly killed and another was severely wounded. The bandits then seized several sacks of registered mail and escaped in a waiting automobile. While speeding to escape pursuit, however, the automobile turned over, killing one of the outlaws and seriously injuring another. The remaining members of the gang escaped but were captured a few days later.

The second of the trio of murders occured at Pittsburgh, Pa., in February of this year. J. K. McCullough, a railway mail clerk of many years' service was at work in his mail car in the railway yards when the robber stealthily entered the car, crept up behind the clerk and fractured his skull with an iron bar. The clerk had no chance whatever to defend himself and never regained consciousness.

The third murder also occurred in a railway mail car, but the robbery was perpetrated while the train was in motion. This attack, which was one of the most daring in the history of the postoffice department, also occured in February. A lone bandit boarded a Northern Pacific train at St. Cloud, Minn., introduced himself to the mail clerks as an employe of the Postoffice Department and presented forged credentials. Without any apparent reason the bandit, who was a mere youth, shot one of the clerks and compelled another to bind and gag the other occupants of the car. The robber then took the registered mail bags and left the train at the next stop. Among his loot were some $500,000 in Liberty bonds. The young bandit remained at large only a few days, however, being apprehended in a far western state by postoffice inspectors. The greater part of the loot was recovered.

Hold-up Men Elusive

Postoffice inspectors divide the criminal attacks upon the mails and the postal service into two general classes—burglaries and hold-ups. The records of the department show that in the past burglaries have been more the present unusual situation due to the crime epidemic the two classes of offenses are now found with practically the same frequency.

It is particularly against the class of young hold-up criminals that Postmaster-General Hays' new policy is aimed. When it was a question of matching skill against skill, the postoffice inspectors were more than a match for the professional criminal. But now it has become a matter of matching force with force. A Sherlock Holmes in Washington, New York or San Francisco is no protection against a desperate young criminal in St. Cloud, Minn., who is determined to take a registered mail bag from an unprotected clerk or die in the attempt.

VOTERS ATTENTION!!!

Do you realize the necessity for capacity for details in your City Clerk? Do you realize the importance attached to the recording of minutes, of real estate transfers, of births, of deaths; of the thousand and one IMPORTANT records to be made?

A slip—an error—an omission by the Clerk may mean money losses to the city or individual.

Therefore, select your candidate with care.

Knowing and realizing the above requirements, I submit my qualifications, which embrace: Capacity for and knowledge of detail work; a broad understanding of the city and its needs; ability to meet and serve the public promptly, courteously and efficiently. Raised and educated in Glendale, all my interests are here. My technical training and experience as instructor in the Van der Naillen School of Mines, coupled with experience gained as superintendent of mines, peculiarly fit me for City Clerk.

I Submit the Above for Your Approval and Consideration

MAKES MAIDEN TRIP TO NORTHERN ICE FIELDS

(By International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 22—The schooner Lady Kindersley, built for the Hudson's Bay Company for the Arctic fur trade, has sailed on her initial voyage up the coast through Behring Sea, around Point Barrow and eastward through the Summer ice lanes of the Arctic to the Mackenzie River. She will carry supplies for the Hudson Bay Company posts.

She will also take north four small schooners. The Hudson's Bay Company, which is disposing of its farm land in the prairie provinces, has many fur posts in the Mackenzie basin, the Yukon and on the edges of the Great Barrens. Fort McPherson is the northernmost fur post on the continental mainland while the post on Herschel island is about 200 miles nearer the pole.

The Lady Kindersley is a powerful vessel designed especially for storm conditions in the ice-studded northern seas an to resist the pressure of floes. She is of 635 gross tonnage, 200 feet long, with a beam of 36 feet and a moulded depth of 15 feet. Her ribs and hull are of British Columbia fir and she is sheathed with two-inch ironbark planks. She will depend upon her sails in good weather, but is equipped with a semi-Diesel engine, which will drive her at eight knots an hour.

There is a superstition at Monte Carlo that immediately after a suicide all those playing against the bank will win. There is, therefore, a rush for the tables when the lugubrious news is known.

A bird in the hand is worth money these days.

FORCED TO BATHE BY SOAP "ADS"

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 22—Here's the 'low down' on bathing.

Charles Henry MacKintosh, an advertising expert, blames it all on soap advertising.

Says Charles:

"Only a short time ago we bathed once a week and generally on Saturday. We even skipped once in a while. Then came a flood of advertising by soap manufacturers until we were persuaded we weren't Christians unless we took a bath daily. We were advertised into it. Advertising ought to raise the standard of living.

London to Malta Air Service

(By International News Service)

PARIS, June 22—The first Franco-British attempt to exploit the dirigible commercially will take place in July, it is officially announced here. A commercial service will commence between Londan and the Island of Malta, with stops at the Station of Orly, near Paris, and at Berre, near Marseilles. If the experiment is successful a Franco-British company will be formed with subsidies from both Governments, for the purpose of continuing this air line and exploiting several others.

Sixteen-Year-Old Groom

(By International News Service)

LEWISTON, ME., June 22—"Young man, you'll have to secure the permission of your parents." City Clerk Hamel told sixteen-year-old Gerald Coffren when he applied for a license to wed Miss Lenoda Idelle McGraw, twenty one years of age. Gerald got his parents' consent.

First Undergrad—"What shall we do?"

Second Undergrad—"I'll spin a coin. If it's tails we'll go to the movies; heads, we go to the dance, and if it stands on edge we study."

CALIFORNIA HAS YOUTHFUL BRIDES

(By International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 22—There were ten California brides married in 1920 under fifteen years of age, according to the annual report of the State Board of Health dealing with marital relationships.

The tendency of women to marry much earlier than men is commented upon, it being shown that there were 13,578 brides in 1920 between the ages of fifteen and twenty years, while only 1,199 men in the same period of life journeyed to the marriage altar.

The greater number of women, however, marry between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five years, 14,257 of that class having married here in 1920. Men also favor the five-year period immediately after they have reached their majority for selecting their life partner. A total of 16,254 men married last year between these ages.

The state report declares that nearly twice as many men marry after they are past forty-five years of age as women. Only 2,130 women embarked on the matrimonial craft after reaching forty-five years of age, while 4,155 men found mates after that age.

NEVADA WILL HOLD 1000-MILE AUTO RACE

(By International News Service)

RENO, Nev., June 21—Over a course made up of every conceivable kind of road from desert sand to mountain passes including a few miles of pavement, two score automobiles will race 1,000 miles in the first annual 1000 mile road race in Nevada. The drivers will contend for a trophy cup and considerable prize money. The cars will get their start on the morning of June 29 and will be flagged into Reno on July 1st.

The race will conform as nearly as possible to the rules of the A. A. A. It will not be under the ruling of the Automobile Association, however, as entries call for a free for all, and both stock and driving cars will be entered.

Drivers thoroughly acquainted with the course, which starts and ends in Reno and is in the form of a triangle covering the central part of the state, believe an average of twenty to twenty-five miles an hour will be a real accomplishment. A few enthusiasts believe they will manage an average of thirty miles an hour. The course will be roughly divided into thirds, and cars must finish each day's schedule within a given time. The race will be under direction of the Nevada Highway Association.

FINED FOR LAUGHING AT POLICEMAN'S STAR

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 22.—This is fair warning that visitors may not laugh at the shiny stars worn by River Forest's police force.

Roy Dale, with several companions, drove his car through the Chicago suburb. He passed Chief of Police Laatz and Patrolman Stuart.

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Dale. "Nice shiny stars. "Ha, he, he!"

He passed the two policemen again. "Ha, ha, ha," he laughed.

Laatz arrested Dale and Police Magistrate William Oliphant fined him $25 and costs for disorderly conduct.

"You can't make fun of our police department," was the magistrate's solemn warning.

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor had a party last night at the home of Frances Goldsborough on Gardena avenue at which recent graduates of the Glendale high school were guests of honor—Helena Richardson, Esther Black, Neville Richardson, Helen Hartwig and Norma Wallace. About 25 young people were present and after a very pleasant evening of games and music, light refreshments were served.

MR. KUHN GOING TO SEE BIG FIGHT

Mr. Kuhn of the Willard Service station at the corner of Brand and Colorado, is leaving tomorrow for Detroit, where he will visit his mother, and from there he will go on to Jersey City to witness the Dempsey-Carpentire fight. He expects to be gone from three weeks to a month and to visit the Willard factory in Cleveland, which, unlike a good many factories in the east, is running 100 per cent capacity and not complaining about any business depression, says Mr. Kuhn.

LEGION PROTESTS; RETURN PRISONER

(By International News Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 22.—"Uncle Tom" Adkisson, 63, illiterate ring-leader of Arkansas draft resisters, has been returned to the state prison here to complete a two and one-half-year term for manslaughter, Governor McRae having recently paroled the old mountaineer for good behavior, but following protestations of former service men and citizens, the governor cancelled the parole.

Adkisson was the leader of a determined band of mountaineers who staged a ten-day battle in the hills near Hober Springs in July, 1918, when federal authorities began the round-up of this states alleged 30,000 draft evaders.

Hardy Adkisson, 25, and Bliss Adkisson, 26, sons of the old man, were within the draft age. The registration board denied them exemption on the ground that they had wives to support for the reason that all the Adkissons resided together.

Barricading themselves in their home, the Adkisson clan, assisted by other illiterate mountaineers, defied the government. Two companies of machine gunners from Little Rock surrounded the home in the hills and after a ten-day battle the draft resisters were captured. Porter Hazelwood, a deputy sheriff, was shot to death by the Adkisson clan.

Bliss Adkisson, arraigned in court, pleaded guilty to a murder charge and is now serving a 21-year sentence. His brother, Hardy, was given a two-year term.

Following a stay of execution granted that he might care for his family, the elder Adkisson entered the penitentiary in August, 1920, to begin a two and one-half-year term. In May, 1921, he war paroled. The American Legion of Arkansas protested vehemently and Governor McRae ordered his rearrest and return to prison, where he is now a trusty.

TEXANS ENJOYING GLENDALE VISIT

Walter E. Taylor, prominent architect of Lubbick, Tex., is the guest of his daughters, Misses Cymbal and Catherine Taylor, 213 North Everett street. It is probable that Mr. Taylor will locate in Glendale.

Another Texas guest whom the Misses Taylor are entertaining is their cousin, Miss Mabel Taylor of Waco, Tex. She, too, will remain here and will each Spanish in one of the high schools of the Southland.

THEATERS

Palace Grand

In one of those girlish roles she enacts so cleverly—this time a nameless child forced to flee from a cruel guardian because of constant abuse—Shirley Mason is coming to the Palace Grand today in her latest Fox production, "Girl of My Heart."

Miss Mason has portrayed various types of girl characters since becoming a Fox star, but it is said that in none has she given a more convincing performance than in "Girl of My Heart," which is an adaptation of Frances Marion Mitchell's novel, "Joan of Rainbow Springs."

Raymond McKee returns as the star's leading man after several months illness.

A Mack Sennett comedy, "A Fireside Brewer," is another attraction.

HOWARD L. BROWN IS ENTHUSIASTIC IN HIS PRAISE OF GLENDALE

Howard L. Brown, past president of the state Christian Endeavor Union and chairman of the general committee of Glendale, is enthusiastic in his praise of the fine cooperation which the city of Glendale is giving the state convention which opens here on Saturday.

City Manager Watson has made it possible to have the auto park and camping grounds, near Verdugo Park, where delegates coming in autos and wishing to camp for the five days, may find accommodations; the city will also cooperate in maintaining sanitary conditions.

The services of the city nurses for the rest room and hospital to be maintained in one of the small rooms in the auditorium is another great help; the fire department and the police department will also cooperate in insuring the safety of the guests of the city.

Ice water fountains are being installed in the auditorium for the convenience of those attending.

MANY GIRLS AT C. C. C. RALLY

There is no apparent diminution in interest in the C. C. C. circle, which meets every Tuesday evening at the Baptist church under the leadership of Miss Maude Soper. Last evening, about 50 girls were present and enjoyed a delicious lunch served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church.

Because of the Christian Endeavor convention there will be no circle rally next week, but it is hoped to resume meetings the following week, July 5, when it is hoped Mrs. Neff will be a guest of honor.

GLENDALE TALENT FOR GUILD BANQUET

At a banquet given by the Los Angeles Advertising Club to the American Guild of mandolin, banjo and guitar manufacturers yesterday at Paulais banquet hall, the Dixie Trio made up of Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul Jones and Paul Murdy, of this city, were entertainers. Speeches were made by distinguished members of the guild, which is holding a convention in Los Angeles this week, that will terminate in two fine concerts on Friday and Saturday nights. At the concert the last night, Mr. Jones will be a banjo soloist and the Dixie Trio will also play.

MARJORIE F. SMITH IN CHARGE OF OFFICE

The telephone number at Christian Endeavor headquarters, 130 South Brand boulevard, is 1967, not the number erroneously given in the Daily Press of yesterday.

Marjorie F. Smith, general secretary, is in charge of the office and her office hours are 8 to 6. Anyone having rooms to spare for the lodging of convention guests may communicate with Miss Smith during these hours.

F. P. NEWPORT PROVIDES PARKING

Camping space and a parking garage will be available for delegates of the Christian Endeavor convention at Verdugo park as a result of arrangements made with F. P. Newport, acting to City Manager Thomas W. [illegible] who has placed the supervision of camp in the hands of Frank [illegible] superintendent of buildings. ties. We must learn to conserve and that will bring us to the idea of continuity.

Appointment for Mrs. Chase

She spoke of the leading departments recognized by the federation—Americanization ,art, music, the drama, etc., and mentioned the close linking she would have with the Glendale club because the curator of its drama section, Mrs. Raymond Chase, has accepted the appointment of chairman of the drama department for the district federation, an announcement which was received with prolonged applause.

Coming to her own special interest, "Americanization," she said: "I realize that nothing is quite so important as knowing how to be a good citizen. We can do nothing well that does not lead to the dominant thought of making better citizens of ourselves.

She spoke of the movement that is being pushed by the American Legion and in which club women have been asked to cooperate, to make the Fourth of July "new citizens' day," and restore to it some of its old time importance, "to regenerate our love for the day."

She then mentioned the celebration planned for the Fourth of July at Exposition park, when newly naturalized citizens will receive their "diplomas" and there will be music and speeches appropriate to the occasion, inviting all present to attend the exercises.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club and past president of the Tuesday Afternoon club followed with a few remarks expressing her satisfaction in the growth of the club. The Americanization movement, as applied to music, was skilfully brought out. The aim of the Federation of Music Clubs, she said, is to make America the musical center of the world, to aid American artists and composers, and promote the establishment of a national school of music. Music, she declared, is the barometer of progress and is one of the final tests of artistic development. A nation will never rise above the average of its citizenship. The standard must be set for good music.

Installation of Officers

Officers elected were then summoned to the platform and beautifully installed with a word of admonition in regard to their respective responsibilities by Mrs. Urquhart, and the advice that they begin to build where others left off. To Mrs. Hutchinson, she said: "Continue the wise, gentle, loving administration you have had for the past year and I know that the coming year will be crowned with success."

In responding, Mrs. Hutchinson renewed her pledge to devote all her powers and energies to the best of her ability to the club, and asked for the continued loyal cooperation of members.

Mrs. A. M. Hunt

Mrs. A. M. Hunt, treasurer of the club, then made a supplementary report and statement of club resources which showed: Cash on hand, $665.60; liberty bonds, $2300; time deposits, $2500; lots on Brand boulevard appraised at $20,000.

Appreciation

From the president there were words of appreciation of the faithful service of Mrs. W. E. Evans, chairman of programs; Mrs. Charles Temple, chairman of ways and means; Mrs. Walter Stamps, recording secretary, and the several curators of sections. New committee chairmen were then announced as follows:

Sinclair; calling, Mrs. Stephen Packer; remembrance, Mrs. Hutley; philanthropy, Mrs. Arthur D. Cross; local relief, Mrs. C. S. Archer; civics, Mrs. C. E. Hagood; patriotism, Miss Ida Myers; sections, Mrs. Colin Cable; emblems, Mrs. S. C. Leppelman.

Piano Delayed

Through some misunderstanding the grand piano ordered from a Los Angeles music house had failed to arrive and a hurry up requisition had to be sent to a local music company. While waiting for the instrument to arrive members were asked to volunteer to [illegible] the box [illegible]unches which the club [illegible]ed itself to provide for pic[illegible] in connection with [illegible]yor convention, [illegible]ere called for Ann L. Gonnerman, a dramatic reader of rare ability, completed the trio of talent.

Miss Loomis has a wonderful voice and a charming personality. The opportunity to hear her in a repertoire so varied, although so short, was a distinct treat. Her numbers were: "The Star" (Rogers); "Do Not Go, My Love" (Hageman); the French song, "Gavotte de Manon" (Massenet); "Bon Jour Ma Belle" (Behrend); "Voi-La Sapete" (from Cavalleria Rusticana by Mascagni); and encore numbers.

Miss Gonnerman's delightful readings included: O. Henry's inimitable "Transients in Arcadia," Alfred Noyes "Highwayman," an Italian dialect number and another encore.

NEW GARAGE AND AUTO SALESROOM

Glendalians are showing interest in the fact that Joe T. Murphy and W. W. Miller, who blew into town the other day with every appearance of being live wires, have purchased the "Club Wash" garage and salesroom on East Colorado near Brand. They have announced that they will represent the Scripps-Booth, the new Sheridan and the Marmon cars, and are making some novel improvements including an open-air display floor and rest room.

Good Government League

AN EXPOSITION

That all may understand the significance of the Good Government League — the reasons for its existence and the work it is intended to accomplish—the following exposition will be given:

REASONS FOR EXISTENCE

The founders of the League, knowing of the nation-wide effort being made toward Sunday closing legislation, with the acknowledged and avowed intention of depriving American citizens of their inherent rights under the Constitution, insofar as to prevent them from the enjoyment on Sundays of amusements, recreation and business entirely legitimate on other days of the week, and having evidence that this retrograde movement meets with sympathy in our midst, and firmly believing such a movement to be misguided and mischievous, and believing that every effort should be made toward its discouragement, this group of citizens organized the Good Government League.

NOT ANTI-RELIGIOUS

The League is in no sense anti-religious. It counts among its members those of many faiths and creeds—with exception of the Puritanical.

The League recognizes the churches as being centers for moral and spiritual uplift, but it is against them being used as centers for the inception and spread of political propaganda aside from strictly moral issues.

Oppose Reactionary Efforts

That a protective organization is needed at this time is the belief of many of our citizens who recognize the present high moral standard of our city and who sternly discountenance and oppose the slightest apparent effort to encroach upon our personal liberties through the possible enactment of certain restrictive or Sunday-closing ordinances, such as already exist in other communities where the reactionary efforts of the professional "reformers" have proved successful.

That Sunday-closing ordinances can be the more easily obtained through a sympathetic City Council is more than evident, and hence the effort upon the part of the League to elect candidates who will not jeopardize the rights and happiness of our citizens by sympathizing with those of fanatical ideas, who would seek to return us to the days of intolerance and oppression.

FOR A SANE CITY

The League stands for, and will work for, a clean city, morally and physically, but also a sane city—a city where each and every citizen may follow out his legitimate individual wishes, unmolested, seven days out of the week.

CONTROL IS SOUGHT

The coming municipal election is believed by the members of the League to indicate, upon the part of a certain faction, a preparation for an attempt toward restrictive Sunday legislation. It is apparent to them that the control of the new City Council, for this purpose, by this faction, is sought and, in all candor, the League wishes it understood that it will make its fight on this assumption. In doing so it believes it will secure the adherence of those who think for themselves, who love and appreciate the happiness and justice of our California freedom from unnecessary restraint.

The candidates recommended by the Good Government League received its endorsement from their acknowledged stand as to Sunday legislation and for their apparent or proven ability to wisely, energetically and economically direct the affairs of our city.

If you have nothing to recommend you but your dignity, you are not as important as the rattle of a Ford car.

Don't be negative. Nobody has anything against a fishworm, but who loves it?

Few things are harder than having faith in the masses when they don't have faith in you.

Doubtless Eve complained to Adam that she "didn't have a thing to wear."

AUTOMOBILE CLUB URGES BETTER GRADE OF PAVING

June 16, 1921.

To the members of the Automobile Club of Southern California:

It must be obvious to every member of the club that California's state highways, although doubtless adequate for the traffic of ten years ago when they were projected, are no longer adequate in width, thickness or quality for the present day or future traffic. The engineering report prepared by the Automobile Club of Southern California, county engineers of most of the Southern California counties and the California State Automobile association, shows the disintegration of our highway system and the folly of continuing to build highways under specifications which have proven inadequate.

It is the plan of the directors to disregard all personalities and politics, but to insist on better highways for California. This policy is declared in the resolution adopted by the board of directors on June 15, 1921, which accompanies this letter. The board desires your approval of this policy.

Will you kindly register your views on the enclosed postal card and return it to club headquarters at once.

For the future guidance of the board of directors in its endeavor to increase the club service to members, we ask your answer to the other questions contained on the postal card.

Yours for the protection of California's highways and all travelers over them.

W. L. VALENTINE,
President.
STANDISH L. MITCHELL,
Secretary.

Resolution adopted by the board of directors of the Automobile Club of Southern California, June 15, 1921:

WHEREAS, The Automobile Club of Southern California was organized and exists for the purpose of promoting the construction, improvement and maintenance of good roads, the protection of motorists, and the furtherance of their interests, and

WHEREAS, During the more than 20 years of its existence this club has, in carrying out these purposes, charted, mapped and signposted the highways, and is now maintaining more than 70,000 signs on the highways of Southern California and on the principal transcontinental routes leading thereto; distributed millions of maps; furnished hundreds of thousands of motorists with accurate touring information; furnished automobile insurance at minimum rates, thereby saving its members many thousands of dollars, and

WHEREAS, Many complaints concerning the condition of the state highways were received at the office of the club, the board of directors caused to be prepared an engineering investigatioin and report on the highways of California with a view to ascertaining their true condition and of assisting in the preservation and further building thereof, which report was published and transmitted on March 17, 1921, to his excellency, the governor of this state, to the state highway commission, to the members of the legislature and to the boards of supervisors of the counties of Southern California, and

WHEREAS, This report has been amply corroborated by the recent report of the federal bureau of public roads, and

WHEREAS, The report prepared by the engineers of this club, assisted by the county highway engineers of most of the Southern California counties, shows that our state highways are inadequate to meet the needs of the traffic over them, because built upon insufficient foundations, without proper preparation of sub-grade or study of sub-soil and draining conditions; because too narrow, too thin and made of too poor a mixture of concrete—being narrower, thinner and poorer in quality than similar highways now being built by ther states, 30 per cent of said highways being already in need of reconstruction, and the average life of said highways being but 15 years, while the final maturities of the three state highway bond issues are 1916, 1962 and 1965, respectively.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Automobile Club of Southern California hereby declares it to be the policy of the club to insist upon (1) the completioin at as early a date as possible of all the highways promised by the state of California; (2) the building of such highways of material, foundation, quality, width and surface as will provide the people of California with highways that will be superior to, or at least the equal of, those constructed by any other state in the union, such highways being essential to our traffic development, which will undoubtedly keep pace with the inevitable development of California; (3) the preservation of such highways and bridges by the adequate regulation of traffic thereover, including the limitation of loads, and (4) the careful, tireless and efficient maintenance of all highways heretofore or hereafter constructed.

To such a policy the Automobile Club of Southern California on behalf of its members, directors and officers, pledges its allegiance, cooperation and support to the end that California may secure a proper system of highways and the taxpayers of the state may secure an adequate return on their highway investment.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

CHICAGO, June 22.—A blanket indictment charging "Big Tim" Murphy, Chicago labor czar, his chief lieutenant, Vincenzoz Cosmano and eight others with robbery of registered mail in the $380,000 Polk street mail robbery holdup April 6, was returned by the federal grand jury today. The indictments were returned in Judge Carpenter's court. Murphy and Cosmano were arraigned at the same time before Federal Commissioner Glass on the same charges contained in the indictments.

WASHINGTON, June 22. — The house again today threatened to scrap the navy department's plans for greater naval defense of the Pacific as incorporated in the naval appropriations bill when it passed the senate.

BELFAST, June 22.—This city was an armed camp when King George and Queen Mary arrived here today to participate in the state opening of the new Northern Ireland (Ulster) parliament. It was the first time in 19 years that King George had visited Belfast.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The navy department today made public the names of the officers and crew of the naval tug Conestoga which mysteriously disappeared last May and which has not been heard from since. The department officially has not given up the vessel as lost, but the fact that the names of the officers and crew were made public for the first time was taken as an indication that little hope is felt of ever finding the missing vessel.

BOSTON, Mass., June 22.—General Charles F. Taylor, proprietor, publisher and editor of the Boston Globe, died at his Commonwealth avenue home today, following an illness of more than a week. He was born almost in the shadow of Bunker Hill monument 75 years ago.

LONDON, June 22.—Reinforcements of British troops are being sent into Ireland to combat the Irish republican army. It was stated at the war office today that troops are being sent as quickly as possible, but the number was not revealed.

DENVER, Colo., June 22.—Fear that the Marshall dam, 23 miles north of Denver would give way, drove hundreds of residents of that town into the hills early today. The Marshall dam impounds several million gallons of water. A 200-foot section of the reservoir became weakened Tuesday night and flood warnings were sounded down the valley. It is feared the concrete walls of the reservoir are sinking into an abandoned mine shaft.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., June 22.—After a night of terror, during which time it was feared that the disaster of 1919 would be repeated, the storm off here subsided this morning. No damage was done by the high winds and the tide was only running four feet higher. Last reports from the weather bureau are that another storm is now brewing in the gulf between Galveston and here, but it is not known where it will strike.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who is suing J. Stanley Joyce, a multi-millionaire lumber king, for $10,000 monthly alimony and $100,000 counsel fees, need not come to Chicago at this time to testify at the hearing in the case, Judge Joseph Sabath ruled today. The court also informed Joyce's counsel that the decision on the alimony and fees question may be handed down as early as June 29.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Back from an extended in soviet Russia, Washington D. Vanderlip, head of a syndicate of California financiers, predicted today that war between the United States and Japan was inevitable.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., who was recalled from London by Secretary of the Navy Denby because of a sensational speech on political matters, arrived today on the White Star liner Olympic. Extraordinary police precautions were made to protect the admiral from hostile demonstrations on the part of Sinn Feiners. Measures virtually as drastic as those taken to guard the life of President Wilson when he went abroad and came home, were in effect.

COMPLETE DISCLAIMER

June 20, 1921.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, Glendale, Calif.:

My dear Brother Edmonds—I was mighty pleased to see in the papers Friday a complete disclaimer of the interest of the Ministerial association in Sunday legislation, and presume, of course, that this means that neither the association nor any of its members have in the past made any effort to plan for Sunday legislation here in Glendale.

I must say that the impression that I have had for a number of weeks has been that not merely were a number of the ministers active, but that you and Mr. Cole were unusually active, but I am glad to have been disabused of this by your frank and unqualified statement.

I am sorry, however, that the lie has had to have been passed. In your letter in the Press the other day and in your letter to the members of your congregation in which you urged them particularly to vote for certain individuals, the question of "lying" has come up quite frankly, and since I have had some things to say in regard to Sunday legislation and the attitude that I presumed that you and your associates held, I feel that perhaps I may have been considered as one of the guilty parties that has been addicted to misstatement, and, therefore, before making my apology in the paper for assuming that you really did the things that I attributed to you, I would like to have several points cleared up.

I have been told that the day after the Pomona campaign closed and it was thought that the forces of the churches there had secured the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the theaters opening on Sunday, I was given to understand that you and some others had a meeting in Mr. Ingledue's office at which plans were discussed for the consummation of a similar accomplishment here in Glendale. Perhaps I was mistaken, but the word came to me very definitely; and I naturally presumed from my knowledgs of your personal interest in this matter and from what I know about the activity of the Presbyterian church and especially the Rev. Anthony Bowlby that you would very probably be interested in just such an action, so I took it for granted that that statement was correct. Evidently it was not.

Again I was informed that at a meeting of the Federated Brotherhoods in the First Methodist church you were credited with the statement, "We have tested our wings and we can fly," and further with making remarks in regard to the opportunity at the next councilmanic election of securing representation for the churches in the persons of individuals who would be willing to close the theaters on Sunday by ordinance.

Again I read in a Glendale paper a statement to the effect that your church, or one of the organizations of it, passed a resolution of compliment to the Presbyterian church in Pomona for the splendid victory which they had made possible along these lines there. I judged from this news that your opinion of the accomplishment in Pomona indicated a desire for similar Sunday ordinances here in Glendale.

At the time of the signing of various petitions for candidates for councilmanic honors, it was common talk that Messrs. Kirk, Yarick and Muhleman were favorable to your attitude and that they would eventually become your candidates. Subsequent events have confirmed this and it is very natural that one should pass judgment upon a fitting together of circumstances so unusual as this. As a matter of fact, Mr. Kirk, himself, has told me of his own attitude in the matter and I cannot believe that he has suddenly acquired a desire to favor Sunday legislation in Glendale without the matter having been given any consideration previously in this conversation with others in the meetings that he attended. So you see, Mr. Edmonds, it is rather difficult for one to disabuse his mind of the fact that there really has been something of this character going on and I am certainly ready to apologize for having come to a conclusion which is not based on facts if indeed it is not.

Another matter which deserves mention. A certain one of the councilmanic candidates had his petition signed by R. W. Ingledue. Very shortly after Mr. Ingledue had signed this paper he called up this candidate asking him his position on the Sunday question and on finding out that he was opposed to it, asked to withdraw his endorsement. Why did Mr. Ingledue give any consideration to this if there was no issue of this kind involved?

The Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Christian church here in Glendale, comes out very frankly emphasizing the necessity for closing the theaters on Sunday, and in his article which you commend in your letter published in the paper some days ago, he intimates that any such action will be perfectly in harmony with the constitution. Why did he give any consideration to closing the theaters on Sunday, and now signs with you the manifesto of the Ministerial association that no such matter has even been given such consideration?

In your own letter in which you use the rather amusing statement, "Blow, brother, Blow," and so on, it really seems as though you were in favor of religious legislation although I may have misread your remarks.

I think I could mention a number of other instances in regard to this matter. I have it on fairly good authority that the matter of Sunday legislation has certainly been considered in the Methodist church by Mr. Crist, in the Presbyterian church by yourself, and in the Christian church by Mr. Cole, and since my informants are known to be truthful I had no alternative but to accept their statements as made.

So before this matter is finally settled, will you not assure me that all of the above are untrue and that there is not now, nor has there ever been any effort to secure representation on the new Glendale city council of members who are favorable to any kind of Sunday legislation.

Cordially yours,
HENRY R. HARROWER.

HOLD AMERICANS UNDER SUSPICION

(By International News Service)

TOKIO, June 22—Fear by the Japanese police in Tokio that certain Americans in Tokio are here first for business, but secondly for investigation and observance of military activities of the Japanese, caused an "urgent meeting", of the Metropolitan Police Bureau in Tokio recently.

According to the Tokio Asahi (Sun) "Some of the Americans who have come to this country recently for business, touring and sightseeing (alleged) are busily engaged investigating the industrial and military conditions of Japan. They are acting with the knowledge of all Americans in Japan.

The attention of the authorities has been called to the very large number of Americans who visited Japan last year, all of them entrusted with special 'missions.' Some of these Americans established themselves in China and Korea and have been active in using wireless apparatus to keep in constant touch with each other. The authorities have detected these activities through the activity of Americans in places contiguous to Japan."

The Asahi's report continues, stating that greater surveillance over the Americans in Tokio must be exercised by the police. The report of the Tokio newspaper was confirmed as substantially correct by M. Hara, Secretary to the Office of Foreign Affairs of the Metropolitan Police Department.

NEED TWENTY MORE VOLUNTEERS

In an effort to have a company of the National Guard recruited before July 9, when the state encampment will open at Yosemite, Pasadena men who are interested in the move are urging that at least 20 more volunteers swing into line so that the Pasadena company may be mustered in at the requisite strength. At the Monday night meeting of the committee in charge of the formation of the Pasadena company, 20 men were sworn into the service and such enthusiasm was demonstrated that it is practically assured that Pasadena will have a National Guard unit at the state encampment.

Capt Thos. D. Watson, commander of the Glendale National Guard company, who attended this meeting, assured the Pasadena officers that he will gladly cooperate with them in every way to assist them in preparing their company of the Yosemite encampment. In this connection he announced that he would gladly place spare rifles, uniforms and other equipment at the disposal of the Pasadena company.

The move to recruit a company of Guardsmen in Pasadena is part of a general campaign in this part of the state to build up the One Hundred Sixty-first Infantry regiment, to be in the nature of a suburban organization and entirely separate from the One Hundred Sixtieth regiment of Los Angeles.
